

Federal law provides immigration relief to victims of human trafficking and other crimes.

The Readington Township Police Department will accept requests for U and/or T visa certifications.

U Visas

U nonimmigrant status provides immigration protection to crime victims who have suffered substantial mental or physical abuse as a result of the crime. The U visa allows victims to remain in the United States and assist law enforcement authorities in the investigation or prosecution of the criminal activity. Additional instructions and the necessary forms can be found at <https://www.uscis.gov/i-918>

T Visas

T nonimmigrant status provides immigration protection to victims of trafficking. The T Visa allows victims to remain in the United States and assist law enforcement authorities in the investigation or prosecution of human trafficking cases. Additional instructions and the necessary forms can be found at <https://www.uscis.gov/i-914>

If a victim feels they may qualify for a U visa or T visa, that victim or a representative on the victim's behalf must complete the USCIS form I-918, Supplement B (U visa) or Form I-914, Supplement B (T visa) and submit to the Readington Township Police Department. Information on eligibility and applying can be found at the www.uscis.gov
